10 science tricks you can easily try at home

Science tricks are both exciting and educational. Science tricks, among various other things, are also tools that parents and teachers might use to motivate children to learn more about science. Who doesn’t want to know how some red dust turns into a volcano right? In order to both excite and motivate you, here are some 10 science tricks you can try at home. Some of them might even appear to be magic tricks at first sight, so have fun showing them off to your friends as well.

Sursa video: youtube.com

Sursa articol: interestingengineering.com